FATAL WRECKConductor Perishes When Freight
Cars Burst Into Flames

AIR BRAKES REFUSE TO HOLD

Two Others Are Injured in Crash
Near Lima

An attempt to fix the responsibility for a wreck which occurred Monday at midnight, causing the death of one and the injury of two others of a freight crew will be conducted by officials of the Ohio Electric. This was announced by C. C. Fast, superintendent of transportation Tuesday morning.

William Harnish, 40, West Liberty, a conductor who was burned to death, was taken from the mass of wreckage Tuesday morning.

Andrew Weymouth, 34, motorman and John B. Bintemire, helper on a trailer, were the injured. Bintemire's injuries Tuesday morning proved to be slight.

A fire, which started soon after both motor car and trailer left the rails was burning Tuesday, a shipment of paper still smoldering.

The scene presented a mass of wreckage twisted out of shape by the intense heat of the fire. The motor car, an inspection showed, left the rail and careened to its side west of the Erie crossing, and was wholly destroyed with the exception of the steel frame work. The front truck of the motor car was buried in the mud.

The trailer, loaded heavily with freight, turned completely over as it left the rails.

The crossing was entirely torn up, blocking traffic for a time on the Erie road. Section men had temporary rails laid at 7 o'clock and traffic was resumed.

The Ohio Electric was forced to press a car into service from the scene of the wreck to its terminal at Market and Central-ave. to transfer passengers from the south. Passengers out of the city were taken care of in the same manner.

According to a story of the one of the crew, the freight train was unable to slow down when the air brakes refused to hold.

Harnish was caught beneath the wreckage, pinned in by heavy boxes and barrels of freight. He was conscious until overcome by the smoke and flames. He directed efforts of fellow trainmen to extricate him, but these were in vain.

Their friend's fate was evident. "Good-bye Bill," both men sobbed as they fought their way thru the crackling fire to safety.

They did not give up their fight. Reaching to the other side of the pile of debris, they endeavored to break in the roof with pieces of iron. But it was too late. Both cars were a solid mass of flames.

The pitiful cries grew more weak. Soon his voice was heard no more.

His body was taken from the pile of ruins by a wrecking crew which was dispatched to the scene shortly after word of the accident reached officials here. The body was burned beyond recognition.

In West Liberty, Harnish leaves a wife and three small children who today are mourning the loss of their father whose life was lost in one of the most terrifying accidents to be recorded in the annals of the inter-urban lines running out of Lima.

ANTI-SALOONISTS
O. K. SUFFRAGEAre Pleased to Have Amendment
Enacted to Constitution

WESTERVILLE, O.—The Anti-Saloon League of America in a statement today says that while it is taking no part in settlement of a number of other issues, the League, nevertheless, is pleased with prospects for making the amendment part of the federal constitution. The league at its convention in Indianapolis in 1916 went on record as favoring the principal of woman's suffrage, because, as it said, of the attacks of the liquor traffic on votes for women. The statement declares that the liquor interests have always been against suffrage, and that they have so expressed themselves in their official publications, in their convulsive statements and in their fights to prevent suffrage.

The statement says that Pittsburg and Cincinnati liquor men have been at Charleston ever since the legislature of West Virginia began consideration of ratification of the suffrage amendment and have worked as hard as they could to prevent ratification.

In fact, says the league, no other interests have been so active in all time to prevent the women from getting the ballot.

According to the league, wherever women have voted the dregs have been the gainers. In a number of cities the votes of women have been sufficient to make a majority against saloons, the league says.

The league points out that with the ballot in the hands of women the eighteenth amendment and Volstead act are more secure than ever.

"Liquor men know their case, now practically hopeless, is even more hopeless if women get the vote," the statement says.

STATE OF WAR EXISTS

But Senate Thinks Wilson Should Ask Consent to Act

WASHINGTON — Congress may take steps to determine whether the 15,000 United States troops now in Germany are to be used against the revolutionists, in the event that allied leaders order such action.

Chairman Kahn of the house military affairs committee, Tuesday is preparing a resolution, calling on Secretary Baker to inform congress of the "exact status" of American soldiers on German soil.

Under the state of war existing between the United States and Germany, the president can use the troops as he sees fit, but some congressional leaders, it is understood, want it made plain that no such action should be taken by the president until congress has passed an authorization resolution.

Because of reports of fighting in Germany between the opposing factions certain house leaders believe Kahn's resolution should be rushed thru so congress would be prepared to act should the situation involve the other powers.

Many members of congress declare American troops should be sent into action only in case a renewal of the world war is threatened. They urge quick clarification of the status of the American in Germany. The forces of the other powers are there to see that the terms of the peace treaty are carried out, but the Americans are there only to see the terms of the armistice are not violated. If the armistice is not violated, the Americans refused to carry out the terms of the peace treaty, the French and British troops, might act, but the Americans should not participate, it is contended, because this country has not ratified the treaty.

It is understood here that any action by General Allen, commanding American troops, beyond his specified duty to keep the peace in the American occupied territory, will have to be directed from Washington. Marshal Foch no longer has jurisdiction of the American troops in Germany, as allied generalissimo, it being understood he ceased to be the allied commander with the ratification of the treaty by France and Great Britain.

That the United States government, with Great Britain and France, is opposed to the new revolutionary regime was indicated by a high official, who said the coup "had all the earmarks of a military and reactionary victory." It was said that there seemed to be no disposition on anyone's part to take action merely because of a change in the German government. It is how a new government will act that will determine the procedure of the United States and the allies.

Van Wert Milkless;
Supply Curtailed

Van Wert is milkless. Farmers are refusing to sell their milk and cream to the Standard Cream company, Van Wert, following an announcement of the company recently that they would reduce their buying price from $3.65 to $3.30 per hundred weight.

The company is the sole distributors for milk and cream in Van Wert, and have in their employ four sub-distributors who sell milk to Van Wert residents.

These distributors, it is said, have asked for a raise. They are making $35 per week, it is said, and the wage increase asked for has not been made public, according to reports Tuesday morning.

A contract said to have been made between the company and the farmers some time ago to pay $3.45 for milk held good until May 10.

At a meeting last night of the farmers in the Van Wert court house they decided to refuse to sell their milk for the new price and named W. C. Poe, A. W. Bustman and C. F. Rodgers, a committee to negotiate with the Standard Cream company.

Babies in Van Wert are suffering worse from the curtailment of the milk supply and steps may be taken to supply milk for these children and those who are sick.

GAS STRIKE IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO—A gas strike, threatening every industry, restaurant and home in Chicago, has been called for 5 o'clock Tuesday night.

Last-minute efforts to stay the walkout of 2,500 workers in the gas plants here were to be made here Tuesday when a union committee and company officials conferred over demands of the men for a 20-per cent increase in wages.

Union officials notified the men the strike will not have official sanction, they said Tuesday. Union members, however, indicated they would walk out unless their demands are met.

SIMS IN ATTACK
AGAINST WILSON

Says President Figured in Speculative Combine With Allies

WASHINGTON — President Wilson, Prime Minister Lloyd George and other civilian leaders of the nations fighting Germany, hoped to be drawn into fascinating "speculation" about some means of quickly ending the war by a spectacular master stroke, while the Germans continued submarine allied shipping, Rear Admiral William S. Sims charged Tuesday in the senate's investigation of the war.

Sims continued reading to the naval affairs sub-committee his long statement by means of which he seeks to prove that the war was prolonged by inefficiency in Secretary Daniels' department.

Elaborating on his intimation Monday that the navy would have been caught unprepared had German raiders made a dash for American troop ships, Sims declared the navy went for months without a plan of action in case of such an attempt and depended on covering its own unpreparedness and lack of fighting ships by calling on the British grand fleet and Japanese battle cruisers.

The Japanese never answered the request for battle cruisers to be attached to the American fleet, Sims declared, and the British admiralty declined to cooperate fully, forcing the navy department to abandon its plans and accept in part recommendations of Sims which were for battle ship escort for convoys.

"It is an impressive example of the deplorable absence of unity of command," Sims observed. "It was attempting the impossible even to attempt preparation and execution of complicated plans with members of the team separated by over 3,000 miles of ocean and discussions carried on over a heavily overworked cable."

"Fortunately the enemy never attempted a battle cruiser raid," Sims denied he opposed the North Sea mine barrage, and praised it as one of the "wonders of the war."

One of the most impractical schemes suggested during war, he said, was to sink 83 obsolete war vessels filled with concrete, to block Heligoland Bight. The blocking of Ostend and Zeebrugge took eight months preparation, he declared. The Heligoland project would have taken a very long time, while allied shipping was being sunk at a dangerous rate.

She arrived here Tuesday morning at 3:45 o'clock and was taken to the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hutchinson, 805 Albert-st., in the Eckert ambulance. Later in the day she was removed to St. Rita's hospital.

TRANSPORTS NOT
PROTECTED,—SIMSContinues Charges in Extensive
Senate Naval Inquiry

WASHINGTON.—Negligence by the navy department in protecting troop transports early in the war was virtually charged by Rear Admiral William S. Sims, resuming his testimony in the senate naval inquiry.

Sims declared he was "horried" by lack of precautions discovered and asserted that the first transports reached France safely largely thru "good luck." Inadequate arrangements were made for destroyer convoy in the danger zone, he said.

Society women at social gatherings in Paris knew of troop sailings before naval officials and General Pershing were aware of them, Sims declared. He related an incident in which the American naval attaché at Paris learned of the first troop sailing from an American woman at a social function in Paris. Her husband had received the information from a business associate in New York, Sims said.

He related an incident in which the American naval attaché at Paris learned of the first troop sailing from an American woman at a social function in Paris. Her husband had received the information from a business associate in New York, Sims said.

Sims declared the navy department used an outworn peace-time code, even after he warned that a German knew the key.

Failure to sink many transports was due largely to the desire of the Germans not unduly to embitter the United States and arouse it to a high pitch of indignation, Sims thought.

Sailing of the first destroyers was published in Berlin papers four days before the ships actually reached Queenstown, Sims said.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — Ratification of the national suffrage amendment will be tested in the courts by anti-suffrage leaders, according to Miss Charlotte Rowe, field secretary of the National Association opposed to Woman Suffrage.

In an attack on Will Hays, chairman of the Republican committee for his part in the suffrage movement, Miss Rowe said:

"Politicians like Will H. Hays, who by a tyrannical and unprecedented proscription of legitimate party machinery and by attempting to foist upon the country an undesired and revolutionary scheme, are reckoning without their hosts."

WILSON EXPECTED
TO TAKE ACTIONSenators Believe Chief Executive
Will Refuse Ratification

HAS DEFIED RESERVATIONS

Democrats May Bolt the Leadership Taken by President

WASHINGTON.—Following adoption of the Lodge reservation to Article Ten, administration senators Tuesday expressed belief that even if the senate should now ratify, President Wilson would refuse to deposit notice of ratification and the treaty would fall.

The president has definitely rejected the reservation which 66 senators, including 14 Democrats, voted into the resolution of ratification.

The question now uppermost in the minds of the senators is: "How many Democrats will bolt the president's leadership in the final vote and accept the Lodge reservations as a means of the getting rid of the treaty?"

Twenty-six Democrats voted against the Lodge reservation on Article Ten. Of these, it was estimated Tuesday from four to seven will bolt from three to eight votes of the senate.

King, Kirby and Chamberlain, according to Democrats leading a movement to disregard the president's wishes and ratify the treaty with the reservations to which he objects.

Various estimates were made of the number of Republican votes for ratification. Curtis, Republican whip, said careful canvasses indicated to him that the treaty would lack from three to eight votes of the senate to ratify.

King, Kirby and Chamberlain, according to Democrats leading a movement to disregard the president's wishes and ratify the treaty with the reservations to which he objects.

Lodge feels certain, he has told friends, that the treaty will fail. Hitchcock is equally certain, he said Tuesday.

King, who with Simmons, is working to get the treaty ratified, whether the president will accept it or not, said there would be 32 Democratic votes for ratification. This with 34 Republican votes, would give two more than necessary for ratification. But King's figures were discounted by every other canvasser.

"Some senators are not telling how they will vote. This silent vote, which is being counted by various canvassers, may upset some calculations at the last minute. Nobody can tell precisely what the vote will be until it has been taken, senators agreed, after looking over the various forecasts."

Lodge and other leaders hope to reach the final vote on Thursday or Friday. No attempt has been made yet to set the time but this may be done Tuesday.

Hiram Johnson, one of the irreconcilable leaders, is hurrying back for the vote. Penrose has wired a request that he be paired against ratification.

LaFollette and Poindexter are back and Senator Fall, New Mexico, has been paired.

The senate Tuesday took up odds and ends of reservations hoping to get them all disposed of by night and perhaps get the resolution of ratification drawn up by voting upon the form of the preamble or resolving clause.

Strike Grows Worse—Leaders
Threatened With Death

BERLIN.—Severe fighting occurred in Berlin and the suburbs Monday, as the result of clashes between citizens and revolutionary soldiers.

A number of persons were killed and many wounded when soldiers turned machine guns on the crowds after a bomb had been thrown at General Von Luetwitz's headquarters on Potsdam Square. Later a mob attacked 60 soldiers in the suburbs with casualties on both sides. Four persons were killed and eight wounded in Charlottenburg, a number killed in Schoeneberg and three killed and 15 wounded in Steglitz.

Chancellor Kapp has threatened the leaders of the general strike with death.

BERLIN.—The general strike, called in protest against the revolutionary government, grew Monday. The American colony in the Hotel Aglon obtained food only with the greatest difficulty. Waiters, cooks, and hotel workers walked out, leaving the hotel management practically helpless.

Railway workers also joined the strike, but a few trains were running. Telephone service was interrupted.

Despite the general cessation of work the city generally remained quiet. The people apparently were waiting passively to "see what will happen."

Reports on the situation thruout the empire up to this time, are conflicting. A Hamburg dispatch said the reichswehr there has gone against the government.

Reports that the new regime is negotiating with the Ebert group were confirmed early Tuesday. The plan, it was said, is to form a coalition government. British sources here denied that T. H. Lincoln, formerly a British citizen, has started negotiations with the British general.

The allied commissioners here generally were uncommunicative, adopting a policy of "watchful waiting." They will have no relations with the new regime until the status of the new regime has been more clearly defined. It was stated officially Monday night that the revolutionary government has received advice indicating that Great Britain is favorable to the new regime, but this statement was received with doubt in allied circles here. The revolutionary government also claimed the military situation pointed out the empire was favorable, "except in a few localities."

The revolutionaries claimed the strike situation is "much better than has been painted." They pointed out the determined attempts of a government to regain power had not showed results up to this time.

CITIES WIN

May Issue Bonds To Purchase Street
Railway Systems

COLUMBUS.—Home rule for Ohio cities won a sweeping victory Tuesday when the Ohio supreme court held that a city may issue bonds, within legal limitations with which to purchase its own street railway system. After the legal limitation has been reached, the remainder of the bonds necessary for the purchase may be made a lien on the utility itself.

The decision came in a test suit brought from Toledo, where a movement has been on for some time for municipal ownership of the car lines.

GOOD ROADS HELD INVESTMENT

Experts Explain Problems to Clubs—Plan Big Meeting

"Do not build roads for the present; Build for the future on the theory that money put into good roads is not thrown away, but is an investment," was the message brought to members of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs and the Auto Trades Association by good roads men last night.

So enthusiastic were members of these organizations after they had heard addresses by experts that arrangements were made for a great mass meeting at Memorial hall at 7:30 o'clock next Tuesday evening when it is hoped to have a very large gathering of the county in attendance.

The meeting is for those living in the rural districts as well as citizens of this city and is for the purpose of getting a better understanding on the good roads program to be worked out in Allen county this year.

Cecil L. Rood, engineer of Lucas, co, was the chief speaker at the point meeting at the Elks home last night. He presented facts and figures in a convincing manner, discussing the various types of road and the fact that it is poor economy to build a road for heavy traffic of material which would be suitable for lateral roads and vice versa.

His arguments were based on his five years' experience with all kinds of roads while engineer of Lucas county. He showed how one type became an expensive proposition in one section and an economy in another. He is a strong advocate of the road patrol system for maintenance and has worked this plan to the advantage of the county he serves.

He strongly favors closed specifications in road lettings. S. M. Williams, president of the Federal Highways Commission, spoke on the need of durable roads to take care of the ever-increasing traffic and said his association was not interested in types further than getting the best roads possible.

C. W. Reed of the federal highway department, declared that the rail transportation systems are broken down and that it is for the motor truck to take the less than carload lots of freight and the short-haul business, off their hands in order that more cars may be released for long-haul duty.

He urged the best possible roads and a systematic scheme for building them in order to get the best results. He declared the motor truck is the salvation of transportation today and that the country must prepare for it and take advantage of the opportunities it offers.

Experts in road work will be secured for the meeting next Tuesday and efforts will be made to get a record-breaking crowd out.

EX-KAISER DULL; MEMORY LAGS

So Declares Chicago Man Who Dined With Him Recently.

CHICAGO. — "Count William Hohenlohe is still chopping trees in Amerongen—a dull old man without ambition or memory."

Dr. T. H. Fokker, Netherlands consul general, who dined with the former Kaiser two months ago, thus allayed fears here that the revolution in Germany would restore the old militaristic leaders.

"He is no longer a menace of a Saturday night. It seemed to me that not only ambition but memory had died in the soul of this old man—dull, uninteresting and vaguely pathetic."

"No matter what sort of a revolution has happened in Prussia, I feel that the Kaiser will remain in Amerongen, a dull old man without ambition or memory. He has gone thru his Golgotha and came out a feeble, uninteresting little human."

"When I had lunch with the Kaiser he ate lightly and seemed adverse to food. He had no beard and his famous mustache drooped over his mouth and seemed uncombed. His hair was white. He mumbled several phrases which I could not catch. The word 'Germany' was never mentioned, nor was Europe, enemies or allies. It was hard to remember that he was Kaiser Wilhelm."

"But, most of all, I saw that he was finished, that his mind had given way and that he was incapable of thinking. In his eyes, heavy eyelids, and from his white hair, his story could be read."

CINCINNATI, OHIO. "When I received your generous gift, I was so glad, almost a wreck, could scarcely stay up to do my work. MRS. T. G. CARTER, 8600 Russell Ave.

"Six months ago I wrote for a sample of Mrs. Summers' 'Uplifted Remedy'. I had spent hundreds of dollars seeking health, before I overcame my prejudices to advertised medicines and used your remedy. I was fast at the point of having an operation, as I was in terrible shape from not having proper care after confinement. I ordered six boxes of your treatment, and today I am a well woman, can do my work and enjoy myself. Words cannot express my gratitude. Use my letter wherever you wish, as I am convinced there is nothing in the world like the 'Uplifted Remedy'."

SCHOOL MEN ARE CRITICIZED

Board and Clerk of District Scored by Examiner

IRREGULARITIES CHARGED

Loose Bookkeeping Alleged in Affairs of Board

Calvin P. Godfrey, Ottawa, state examiner of the Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Affairs, in his report of an investigation of school funds and administration of affairs in Auglaize Rural school district, criticizes both the board and the clerk, C. K. May.

Petition for the special examination, signed by 28 taxpayers, was made up at Harrod September last.

The examination is an echo of the contention made when the county board of education sought to erect from Auglaize Township Rural school district and Westminster Special Rural, two other districts, on March 22, 1915.

Districts were to be styled Auglaize Rural and Westminster Rural. But the action of the county board was set aside as a result of proceedings in the courts of common pleas and appeals.

A second effort of the board in July, 1917, to establish districts to be named as given above, was sustained, after proceedings in common pleas, court of appeals and the supreme court.

The examiner says the clerk simply hung tin hills on a hook instead of filing and called attention to alleged law methods of book keeping.

In a few instances the board of education paid a war tax on shipments received when all political subdivisions were exempt from such tax.

The delinquent contract is illegal, he says, because it does not run two years.

The examiner found the bond issue of $2,000 was illegal because advertised in a state newspaper, because the bonds were sold at private sale without first offering them to shelling fund trustees or state industrial commission board, because of illegal bid of purchasers of the bonds, action of the board changing the rate of interest and failure to advertise the altered issue of bonds.

He criticizes the board for obligating the district for a program of expenditures certain to cost more than elections authorized.

Elections of all of what had been Auglaize Township Rural district voted upon the question of the third bond issue at the precincts in Auglaize Rural district. Failing there, they voted or rather cast their ballots, the report says, in the precinct of Westminster Rural that was formerly part of Auglaize Township Rural.

The latter action was null and void to the bond issue, but in the former case a local issue in one voting district can not be affected by ballots cast in an adjoining district, the report states.

The clerk told the examiner he had suppressed information about district affairs by not posting the annual exhibit of receipts and expenditures, because he did not know the law. He denied he had refused an inspection and examination of the books and accounts to residents of the district, but those outside were refused this privilege.

Examiner Godfrey says no public official may legally deny any person the right to properly inspect public records and accounts and whoever hinders or obstructs, or attempts to do so, is subject to a penalty, as well as any one who conceals any public record authorized by law.

He calls attention to non-cancellation of paid coupons, saying the practice is both unbusiness-like and risky, and if continued, might become quite costly for the district.

M. L. Johnston, Kirby White, H. F. Thomas, Emile Dubin and C. C. White, board of commissioners of the sinking fund, never effected an organization. They gave joint bond for $1,000, but as there was no surety, the examiner says the bond was worthless.

Complaints that the schools of the district are inferior and below the statutory requirements pertaining thereto, was left to the state department of public instruction by the examiner.

JENNINGS RECOVERED. Patrolman Jennings, who had been ill for some time, has returned to local police duty.

ADMINISTRATOR NAMED. A. F. Basil, Waynesfield, was appointed administrator of the estate of Albert G. Schneider, late of Auglaize-tp., who died March 10, in probate court Tuesday. The property consists of $2,100, in which the widow and a seventeen-months-old daughter will share. W. W. Contris, Leonard Jacobs and James Smith were named appraisers.

LODGE NOTICES. Special Communication, Garrett Wyckoff Lodge No. 585 F. & A. M. at 7 o'clock tonight. Work in the M. M.

Raise Your Garden ONIONS EASY CROP FOR GARDEN

By W. F. FECHNER
Champion Backyard Gardener of America

The ease with which the largest dry onions are grown from seed makes it possible for everyone to effect a considerable saving in their household bills. The best varieties are Australian Brown (best keeping), Yellow Prizetaker, White Silver King and Extra Early Red.

An ounce of seed will be sufficient for a large family.

Have your ground thoroughly pulverized, rich in humus and fertility.

Sow in double or triple rows eight inches between. With a sharp stick or tool draw one-quarter inch deep ridges for the rows. Drop in a few seeds every six inches apart. Cover lightly and gently with a board.

Keep surface moist, but not wet. All the seed comes up. When a few inches tall thin out to one plant to a hill. Give frequent cultivation and keep free from weeds.

When onions are wanted for eating as green table onions sets instead of seed should be used to insure quicker results.

BEANS

While some beans are harder than others no beans should be planted till the ground is well warmed up and all danger from night chilling is past. However, should beans be caught by a frost and bitten replant at once. Make successive plantings every ten days to insure a continuous supply.

Among the green beans the Giant Stringless Green Pod and Refugee are as good as any both being round podded and quite early, and while being excellent for use and market beans both are well adapted to canning.

I prefer to plant two rows with eight inches between so as to be of protection and support during a windy day.

Plant four to six beans to the hill which should be about eight inches apart in the row, and finally thinned out to leave three to each hill. Cover about two inches deep in planting.

Wax beans are planted like green podded beans. While the "black wax," rust-proof wax, kidney wax and others are good, we have never found a bean to equal the "refugee wax," both for quality as well as quantity.

CITY HALL SCRAP MAY BE ENDED

Evans and McClain Near Agreement, is Belief

An agreement seemed likely Tuesday in the McClain-Evans clash to be finally disposed of at a conference of the municipal civil service commission which may be called late today.

The final disposition of the affair, it was unofficially announced, hinged on a public apology being given by Evans for alleged utterance against the present administration. It is thought the suspension order dismissing Evans as water works superintendent for 90 days may be rescinded and Evans allowed to resume duty at once if this course is adopted. It is not known that the charges against McClain will be pressed.

The commission Tuesday was in receipt of a letter from Mayor Burkhardt denying any attempt at affront to the commission in the second suspension of Evans. The mayor declared he would hold up further investigation awaiting the confirmation of the communication by the board.

WHAT HARDING IS FIGHTING FOR

Not Only Presidency, but Senatorship as Well

WANAMAKER IS WATCHING

May Seek Toga if Wood Runs Strong in Ohio

COLUMBUS — Senator Harding has much more at stake in the coming presidential primaries in Ohio than merely the winning of the Ohio delegation.

On the size of the vote he receives will depend largely whether or not he will have opposition in the August primaries for renomination to the United States senate.

If Harding should be nominated at Chicago for president, of course he won't be a candidate for the Senate. But he will be all ready to weigh in for the Senate in the event he doesn't land at Chicago.

Judge R. M. Wanamaker of the Ohio Supreme Court, one of the biggest vote-getters in the Republican Party, is only waiting to see the test of Harding's popularity in April before entering the senatorial contest, working for Wood.

The Wood people propose having one Wood worker for every 15 Republican voters. This means an army of 40,000 out working for Wood on primary day.

Pressure is being brought on N. H. Fairbanks of Springfield, candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, to resign as chairman of the Republican State Central Committee. The Harding people, however, don't want him to resign because the vice chairman, John B. Corns of Ironton, is out working for Wood.

Colonel Ben H. Hough of Delaware, who is in the Ohio troops in the Rainbow Division in France, will evidently have no opposition in the Republican primaries for the two-year term nomination for the supreme bench.

"LET DANDERINE SAVE YOUR HAIR"

Check ugly dandruff! Stop hair coming out and double its beauty

A little Danderine cools, cleanses and makes the feverish, itchy scalp soft and pliable. Then this stimulating tonic penetrates to the follicles, hair roots, revitalizing and invigorating every hair in the head, thus stopping the hair falling out or getting thin, dry or falling.

After a few applications of "Danderine" you seldom find a fallen hair or a particle of dandruff, besides every hair shows new life, vigor, brightness, more color and thickness.

A few cents buys a bottle of delightful "Danderine" at any drug or toilet counter.

ly injured, and several suffered less or more in a head-on collision today between the Boston and Memphis express northbound, and a freight train on the Rutland railroad four miles north of here.

Try Making Your Own Cough Remedy

You can save about $1, and have a better remedy than the ready-made kind. Easily done.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never sickens.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A doctor's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and has been used for generations to break up severe colds.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute relief or money promptly refunded.

Why One Woman Bought At Home

An incident with a moral for those who labor under the delusion that furnishings may be more economically purchased—elsewhere.

I buy at home. Why?

Because my interests are here.

Because the community that is good enough for me to live in is good enough for me to buy in. Because I believe in transacting business with my friends.

Because I want to see the goods.

Because I want to get what I buy when I pay for it.

Because every dollar I spend at home stays at home and works for the welfare of this community.

Because the man I buy from stands back of the Merchandise.

Because the man I buy from pays his part of the city, county and state taxes.

Because he has always returned value received in generous measure.

Because he who sells to me contributes to the support of my schools, my churches, my lodges and my home.

Because should ill-luck, misfortune or bereavement befall me the man I buy from is here with kindly greeting. Here I live and here I buy.

I buy at home. Do you?

If you still don't, may we have the privilege of entertaining you at our store.

THE CABIN

(LA BARACA) by VINCENTE BLASCO IBANEZ
Translated From the Spanish by Frances Haffkins and Beatrice M. Mekota

All the family felt a sensation of coolness and of well-being. The earth sung merrily with a greedy glu-glu, which touched the heart. "Drink, drink, poor thing!" And their feet sank in the mud, as bent over they went from one side to the other of the field, looking to see if the water had reached every part.

Batiste muttered with cruel satisfaction which the joy of the prohibited produces. What a load was lifted from him! The Tribunal might come now, and do whatever it wished. His field had drunk; this was the main thing.

And as with the acute hearing of a man accustomed to the solitude, he thought that he perceived a certain strange noise in the neighborhood, he ran to the farm, and returned immediately, holding a new shotgun.

With the weapon over his arm, and his finger on the trigger, he stood more than an hour close to the bars of the canal.

The water did not flow ahead; it stood itself out in the fields of Batiste which drank and drank with the thirst of a dropsical man.

Perhaps those down below were complaining; perhaps Pimento, notified as an attendant, was prowling in the vicinity, outraged at this insolent breach of the law.

But here was Batiste, like a sentinel of his harvest, a hero made desperate by the struggle of his family, guarding his people who were moving about in the field, extending the irrigation; ready to deal a blow at the first who might attempt to raise the bars, and re-establish the water's course.

So fierce was the attitude of this great fellow who stood out motionless in the midst of the canal; in this this black phantom there might be divined such a resolution of shooting at whoever might present himself, that no one ventured forth from the adjoining canals, and the fields drank for an hour without any protest.

And this is what is yet stranger; on the following Thursday the attendant did not have him summoned before the Tribunal of the Waters.

The huerta had been informed that in the ancient farmhouse of Barret the only object of worth was a double-barreled shotgun, recently bought by the intruder, with that African passion of the Valencian, who willingly deprives himself of bread in order to have behind the door of his house a new weapon which excites envy and inspires respect.

Each morning, at dawn, Roseta, Batiste's daughter, leaped out of bed, her eyes heavy with sleep, and after stretching out her arms in graceful writhings, which shook all her body of blonde slenderness, opened the farmhouse door.

The pulley of the well creaked, the ugly little dog, which passed the night outside the house, leaped close to her skirts, barking with joy, and Roseta, in the light of the last stars, cast over her face and hair a pat of cold water drawn from that round and murky hole, poured at the top by thick clumps of ivy.

Afterward, in the light of the candle, she moved about the house preparing for her journey to Valencia.

The mother followed her without seeing her from the bed with all kinds of suggestions. She could take away what was left from the supper; that with three sardines which she would find on the shelf would be sufficient. And take care not to break the dish as she did the other day.

smoking kettle where the cocoon was being soaked while they called her a pauper, and applied similar eulogies to her and her family.

On the way she fled from them as from a throng of furies, and felt safe only when she was inside the factory, an ugly old building close to the market, whose facades, painted in water-colours the century before, still preserved between peeling paint and cracks certain groups of rose-colored legs, and profiles of bronzed colour, remnants of medallions, and mythological paintings.

Of all the family, Roseta was the most like her father, a fury for work, as Batiste said of himself. The fiery vapour of the caldron where the cocoon is soaked mounted about her head, burning her eyes; but, in spite of this, she was always in her place, fishing in the depths of the boiling water for the loosened ends of those capsules of soft silk of the mellow colour of caramel, in whose interior the laborious worm the larva of precious exudation, had just perished for the offence of creating a rich dungeon, for its transformation into the butterfly.

Throughout the large building reigned the din of work, deafening and tiresome for the daughters of the huerta, who were used to the calm of the immense plain, where the voice carries a great distance. Below roared the steam-engine, giving forth frightful roaring sounds which were transmitted through the multiple tubing, pulleys and wheels revolved with an infernal din, and as though there were no noise enough, the spinning-mill girls, according to traditional custom, sang in chorus with a nasal voice, the Padre nuestro, the Ave Maria, and the Gloria Patri, with the same musical interludes as the chorus which roamed about the huerta Sunday mornings at dawn.

This did not prevent them from laughing as they sang, nor from insulting each other in an undertone between prayers, and threatening each other with four long scratches on coming out, for these dark-complected girls, enslaved by the rigid tyranny which rules in the farmer's family, and obliterated by hereditary conventions to lower their eyes in the presence of men, when gathered together without restraint were regular demons, and took delight in uttering everything they had heard from the cart-drivers and labourers on the roads.

DEMOCRATS PUZZLED

DEMOCRATIC politics in the nation now is the cause for much speculation. This party is placed in a peculiar situation on a number of issues and has several problems to solve before the national convention at San Francisco. Both major parties have the wet and dry issue to consider and the fact that ten states in the east will attempt to force a damp or wet plank into the platforms of both makes this matter an even break.

But four distinct angles of the democratic situation are commanding attention of party leaders. They are:

1.—Will President Wilson's return to health result in his third-term candidacy on an out-and-out League of Nations platform?

2.—Will the insistence of Herbert Hoover that he is not a candidate cause a slow-down in rapidly growing Hoover sentiment?

3.—To what extent does Attorney General Palmer's candidacy as a straight-out champion of the administration appeal to the country, as compared with refusal of former Secretary McAdoo and former Speaker Clark to enter primary contests on the grounds that the democrats should journey to the Pacific coast "free and untrammelled?"

4.—Has a reaction from prohibition set in sufficiently to make it good policy for the democrats to declare for a repeal of the Volstead law, and at the same time recommend that each state be given the right to define what constitutes intoxicating liquors?

There has been much discussion to prove that the president will not be a candidate. There is practically no assurance of this, however. The appearance of Palmer as a candidate was taken as proof that the chief executive would not enter the race, but party leaders are still waiting for a definite statement from the White House.

Many politicians believe that if Hoover will merely give the word, the sentiment in his favor will become so great that he may lead the democrats to victory. Hoover has the advantage of being a business man, not a politician. A big business executive is what the country needs and what it should have for the next four years. Men in all walks of life from one end of the nation to the other are forswearing allegiance to parties and are announcing themselves for an executive who can handle the business of the country in a way politicians are not given to doing. It is to be hoped that this sentiment will become so strong that the next president will be one who can and will handle the affairs in the manner in which any successful big business is conducted.

MISS LUNA: "This is the time to buy women's skirts. They are going to be several inches higher in the spring."

ABE MARTIN

"My brother Henry has a fine education and a plug hat, but he's never had time to use either one of 'em," said Mrs. Tilford Moots, today. Late Bud don't know whether to get a spring suit or an overcoat for next winter.

SHORT ONES

WE know some men who will not object to $1 haircuts. They are bald.

HAT-TRACKS seem to be in greater demand by the parties just now than platforms.

THE best slogan for the present time we have heard is "Work More and Talk Less."

IN Spain they are complaining because olive oil, the real article, is selling at 50 cents a quart.

McADOO'S presidential aspirations have been sadly impaired. Burleson has endorsed him.

AS YOU LIKE IT

A motion picture cameraman has no illusions and he makes no effort to hide his lack of illusions from the parties concerned.

The other day we were sent for to be "shot in the studio," this being a sort of vital place, as it were, and everything was pleasant and agreeable until we met this chap, the cameraman. He meant to be pleasant, no doubt, but he was as outspoken as was Wilson when dictating letters to Secretary Lansing.

Before he posed as he looked us over with great approval. "You should be a great film subject," he said. "The scenario will count for nothing. The face will do it all."

"Temporarily we were complimented and began to feel like a young Greek god."

"Yes," he continued, "if it is going to be a comedy we won't need to use any words at all—just the face. I don't think I have ever worked on one which was so promising."

"It will be a tough job, won't it?" asked the director anxiously.

"The subject is full of inequalities," replied the cameraman, "but I photographed the Swiss Alps once, and I guess I can handle this."

And he did. The camera groaned and squeaked and panted and gasped, but didn't give up until it had shot the necessary 2,000 feet.

Dr. Charlotte Davenport of Louisville, Ky., on her recent and ninety-fifth birthday, gave this advice: "Husbands are plagues, but every woman should get the plague; make fun of husbands' stupidities—don't scold; learn to like hardships and you'll succeed in marriage."

The lady doctor was born in Petrograd, married for the first time in France, is the mother of eighteen children and was married for the second time at the age of seventy-two to a man aged twenty-six.

That, by the way, is the best advice that warns the cockles of friend husband's battered old heart.

Dear Roy—On Bloomfield-ave., Newark, there is a grocery store. The only visible sign reads: "Pies and Charcoal."—H. W. McLane.

When the new acts arrived one Monday recently, one of the stage employees asked one of the team: "What act is this?"

"Cooke and Perry," the male member replied.

"Cooke and Perry?"

"Yep. Ever hear of us?"

"Sure I did," the "grip" replied with a grin. "You're the ginks that had the argument about the north pole."

HEALTH HINTS FOR TODAY

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Letter purporting to be from one Henry S.:

"You are always writing that there is no such thing as taking cold, the people never have 'colds'; that these 'colds' are purely infectious diseases, spread from person to person."

"It seems to me that everybody knows and knows it well, that it is a perfectly easy thing to catch cold. Suppose a person not used to severe exposure, gets his feet wet and sits about in the winter time quite a while with them wet. He is practically sure to get what he will call a 'cold' out of it. Also he would so if he took off his flannels and went out without them in cold weather. Persons often take cold when they have their hair cut in cold weather."

If one drops off to sleep in a warm room that turns cold before he awakens (he not being able) he is very liable to 'catch cold.' People also catch cold by sitting in a draft, being unaccustomed to same. Women who are doing a washing and become 'soapy' in a hot steamy room, often 'catch cold' by going out to hang up the clothes without wrapping up properly. Workmen, riding home in the cool evening in the summer, with their garments wet and without a coat, often 'catch cold.' Please take this phase of the subject up and write about it." (Henry S.)

There is no way of knowing what you mean in these various instances of alleged injury to health by sudden alterations of surface temperature or circulation. Unfortunately "a cold," in the popular view, means almost anything one may happen to complain of.

It is clear and obvious that the washerwoman or the workman or the athlete or any one who uses muscles near from sudden chilling after such exertion. The cause of the soreness or lameness of muscles in such cases is retention of waste material, products of combustion not completely removed by the circulation. On the other hand, let the same individual develop a free perspiration in a passive manner, that is, by the application of heat and without muscular effort, and then be suddenly chilled, and he will suffer no ill consequence whatever, as everybody knows who has even toyed with the Turkish bath.

CITY HALL

THE fatuous actions of City Hall seem never ending and more and more is heard discussion among voters favorable to the city-manager form of government. Mayor Burkhardt is not adding any lustre to his party by his countenance of the boyishness exhibited by his ancillary appointees. In two months the municipal government has dropped to high school tactics, and no one can be held responsible but the chief himself, the Mayor. It is time Mr. Burkhardt either publicly announced he is the spirit behind the acts of his subordinates, or cast the blame upon those subordinates and demanded their resignations.

Lima cannot afford to become a laughing stock and that is what it is becoming judged by the editorial comment from papers in the district. We need no staccato administration of our service department; nor should the acerbity of a director of this department be permitted to interfere with the operation of our waterworks utility or the cleansing of our streets. Rather a facile hand at the wheel than a contumacious hand. The loftiness and grandeur of the portfolio must give way to the execution of the workaday business of the job.

THE PRICE OF SHIPS

STEAMSHIP prices have apparently gone the way of all other prices. A British shipping paper has charted the course of prices a new cargo steamer of 7,500 tons, ready to start to sea, would bring at different times and indicates $1,160,000 as the price at the end of 1919. In 1914 it would have been $215,000 and in 1908 when shipping touched its low point the price would have been $180,000.

TRAVELET Headquarters

The Antisuffrage headquarters are on the first floor of an old dilapidated house on Madison-ave. New York. Here gather and work for long, unremunerative hours, many women who are fighting tooth and nail for the apparently dying principle that a woman's place is in the home.

Miss Charlotte Rowe is field secretary of the organization, and takes her work most seriously. She lives upstairs above the offices, she spends long days directing the sounding out of circulars, speakers and propaganda, and her evenings are mostly devoted to going around and listening to speeches by the opposition.

The office, with its cream-colored woodwork and pale pink panels, is busier than ever now carrying on the campaign against the Susan B. Anthony federal amendment. If this amendment passes the Senate, as well as the House, the anti-suffrage take it up to the Supreme Court.

The Woman Who Loved--And Earned

A MODERN STORY OF HOME AND BUSINESS
By JANE PHELPS

GERRY IS WARNED

I thought with a tightening of the throat how Robert always praised Marion, how he even seemed to think her more capable than either Jane or Betty. I held his arm back when the picture was over. I wanted him to get out first. Then he would not see us.

He did not come in until after Aunt had gone to her room. I watched him in an oddly impersonal way as he talked to me. I told him his Aunt had gone to bed, but said nothing of our having been out. Neither did he volunteer any information as to his movements.

"Where did you go to-night, Bob?" I finally asked, unable to restrain myself.

"To a show!"

"Alone?"

"For heaven's sake, Gerry, one would think I was a kid in short pants to hear you quiz me."

"I don't mean to quiz Robert, but I am very lonely when you stay out evenings. He made no reply and I said no more."

"You should be proud of Robert," his aunt told me before I left for the store the next day. "He spoke of going to a show last night and I questioned him a little. He says he has been working very hard and needed relaxation."

"Robert does work hard," I admitted, "but he doesn't seem to get advanced as rapidly as we had hoped when we were married."

"Perhaps you do not give him any incentive?"

"I don't know what you mean?"

"Some women are so constituted that pretty clothes and a chance to show them off are more to them than the happiness or comfort of the man they marry."

"I suppose you mean—are talking of me?"

"Robert tells me he hates this boarding house—that he would rather go hungry than eat here day after day. Why don't you keep house for him?"

"What on?" You surely couldn't expect us to live on Bob's salary!" I felt like telling her that it was my money that was paying her board while she visited us.

"I guess you could if you tried. But I know the way you feel. You are just like all the city girls nowadays. You hate to spoil your pretty hands washing dishes and working about the house; you would rather sell hats, or work in an office. When I was a girl a married woman thought her place was at home making her husband comfortable and happy so that he didn't have to run getting into temptation. "It's a pretty poor sort of a man who can't withstand temptation. And as for Robert and me, I never shall give up my position until he earns enough to give us a decent home. There is no earthly reason why I should."

"You make your own bed. You will have to lie in it. But remember, Geraldine, I warned you."

"I'll remember."

I wondered why everyone seemed so determined to make me unhappy by blaming me because Robert did not get on. He had not been advanced, nor his salary raised. We had been married a year, in which time mine had been raised twice. It would be simple lunacy for me to give up. We were comfortable, had a little now for extras besides our living expenses. I would have a really plain talk with Bob—I had intended to for a long time. I did not believe that it was a simple matter of longing to keep house that was depressing him. It was something else, something more vital to my happiness. It might be that it was Marion Hovey.

Teeth Are Ruined

By a Film—Millions of Them

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

Free A 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent, to show you how to end film. See below.

On Your Teeth Now

There is now on your teeth a slimy film. You can feel it with your tongue. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays.

The tooth brush alone doesn't end it. The ordinary tooth paste does not dissolve it. So month after month it stays there and may do a ceaseless damage.

That film is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Most tooth troubles are now traced directly to that film.

Dental scientists have for years sought a way to end film. They have known that brushing could not save teeth if it left that film upon them. Now that film combatant has been found. Convincing tests, under able authorities, have proved it beyond question. The method is now embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. And we supply it free for testing to anyone who asks.

The Way to End It

Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digester of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to constantly combat it.

Pepsin long seemed impossible. It must be activated, and the usual agent is an acid harmful to the teeth. But science has discovered a harmless activating method. Now activated pepsin can be applied, night and morning, to combat that film.

Leading dentists everywhere are now advising Pepsodent. Countless people have already adopted it. And trial tubes are offered everywhere to show others what it does.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the slimy film. See how the teeth whiten as the fixed film disappears.

Let your own mirror show you what Pepsodent means to your teeth. Then decide for yourself about it. Cut out the coupon now.

GARFORD CO. HAS A NEW DEPARTMENT

Transportation Section Will Seek to Better Truck Operation

The Garford Motor Truck company, Lima, has established a new transportation engineering department, according to J. F. Bowman, general sales manager of the concern.

According to Mr. Bowman, the details will be in charge of the transportation engineer, whose long experience with motor trucks and haulage problems make him fitted for the work.

The department will investigate the operation of Garford Motor trucks in all parts of the country, obtaining data relative to operating costs in actual service.

Several days will be spent with drivers of the trucks in procuring definite records of mileage and gasoline consumption. Study of the kinds and quantities of loads hauled, distribution area, grades and conditions of highways, climatic conditions, frequency of stops, speeds maintained in conformance with conditions, state and town laws, and every item bearing upon truck operation and maintenance.

"This service will be of material benefit to present users of Garfords," Mr. Bowman said. "As a result of the research, the transportation engineering department will be able, in each instance, to recommend such change in systems as are necessary to obtain the lowest cost per ton-mile, at the same time increasing the hauling efficiency of the trucks. Through this work the drivers will be given a better understanding of how trucks should be operated to obtain and maintain economy in operation," he stated.

SERVICE DIRECTOR WILL DELAY PAYMENT ON PUMP

Service Director McClain stated Tuesday a protest would be entered against the payment of approximately $23,000 to the John W. Danforth company, Buffalo, N. Y., for pumps and turbines installed in the city's new water system.

The action followed the clamoring of the company for payment. McClain stated that the payment would continue to remain unpaid until three low service pumps at the E. North-st. pump station were correctly aligned.

STOMACH TROUBLE HAS DISAPPEARED

INDIGESTION—HOW IT IS CORRECTED
Thin blood is the cause and the consequence of indigestion. Impoverished blood impairs the activities of the gastric glands and retards the digestive processes. On the other hand imperfect digestion robs the blood of nourishment. The right tonic will make the blood so well-oxygenated and rich that it will improve the digestion and an improved digestion will correct the anemic condition. Read how this Binghamton woman who was a victim of stomach trouble found relief.

An excellent example of the proper treatment for stomach trouble is that offered by the experience of Mrs. Mary D. Polhamus, of No. 345 Chango street, Binghamton, N. Y. Mrs. Polhamus says that her stomach trouble developed during a general decline in her health. "I was so badly run down," she says, "that I was forced to keep to my bed for a period of three months. A meal meant hours of pain for food of any kind caused indigestion. My stomach became bloated. The pain was so great that I lost a great deal of sleep and never felt rested in the morning. During my illness I lost weight and color and became very nervous. I suffered frequent dizzy spells when everything went black before my eyes."

"I had tried many medicines that were prescribed for me but they only helped me temporarily. Then one day I heard about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began taking them. There was an almost immediate effect from the pills. In two weeks I was able to eat a meal without fear of indigestion. Finally my strength returned. I gained strength and my complexion improved. I sleep soundly now. The dizzy spells have also disappeared. I strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to everyone in need of a tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood, and enable it to absorb more oxygen, the agent which burns up the body poisons. Build up your blood and note how the richer blood fights your battle against disease. Take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and build up a resistance that, with the observance of ordinary rules of health, will keep you well and strong.

A booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat," which tells about this treatment, will be sent free on request by Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box.

The Itching and Sting of Blazing, Fiery Eczema
Seems Like the Skin Is on Fire.

There is a harassing discomfort caused by Eczema that becomes a torture. The itching is almost unbearable, and the skin seems on fire with the burning irritation. A cure from local applications of salves and ointments is impossible, because such treatment can only allay the pain temporarily. The disease can only be reached by going deep down to its source.

The source of Eczema is in the blood, the disease being caused by an infection which breaks out through the skin. That is why the most satisfactory treatment for so-called skin diseases is S. S. S. for this remedy so thoroughly cleanses the blood that no impurities can remain. Get a bottle to-day, and you will see results from the right treatment. Write for advice. Love and Married Life

By IDA MCGLONE GIBSON

JOHN ASSETS HIS RIGHTS

What in heaven's name brought you to such a state of mind, Katherine? Had Karl Shepard been trying to make you think that you were an abused woman?" asked John when he finally had come to the conclusion that what I had been telling him of my attempted suicide was true.

"He had been telling me nothing I did not know that Karl Shepard was in the city until I heard a voice exclaim, 'Don't be foolish and two strong hands jerked me back. When I turned I looked into Karl's horror-stricken eyes.

"So the 'sound' had been following you had he? Great God! I wouldn't have thought that of him—following his friend's wife is something I would not have believed of Karl Shepard, if my own wife had not told me he had done so."

"TRIED TO EXPLAIN." "But John I did not tell you that he was following me. I have tried to explain that he had intended me to know that he was here until he was ready to apologize to me for his part in your fight over Ross Morland. He thought he could help a little in some way to feel right toward you as well as toward himself.

"I don't understand how he thought he could help you, you are my wife, not his. The only thing he can do decently do if he wants to be a friend to either of us is to keep away."

"If he had, John I would not be here now to tell the story."

"Oh, you can't make me believe that. You never would have had the courage to do it."

"I turned my free arm and my body trembled so that my teeth were chattering. There was not one word of sympathy for me, not a pitying question as to the cause of my despair. Instead there was only black rage against his friend and a stubborn recitation that I was either lying to him or was telling him some of something that I thought I could possibly carry out, in which I would have surely failed in the last moment. For all the many times that I have told John that I considered courage the greatest of all virtues I can see that he has always denied both moral and physical courage to me.

"NO FOAMING ALLOWED." "Well, I'll tell you once for all I will not have any man poking on my private life and I can't understand why on should think that Karl Shepard's hum of following you around like a little dog has nothing of great import in it. Everybody knows he is in love with you. Men do not do things like this—and this—and this (and he picked up my handfuls of white violets and threw them violently out of the window unless he has some special interest in doing it.

"On yes," he continued, "I know that these flowers could be from no other person than Karl Shepard. 'You are a little flower,' he said. 'You are a little flower.' I saw them Sunday and the moment I saw them about your sick room at the hospital I knew with diabolical subtlety, as had transferred his delicate little attention to my wife. I didn't say anything about it then because I thought that if you didn't have sense enough to stop it you would at least see the futility of his attention. But I want to tell you right now, Katherine, that I am going to keep you. You are mine and no other man in all this world shall have you. Oh girl, why do you drive me mad with jealousy?" and again he drew me to him and crushed me against his heart.

"I pushed him from me. It seemed to me that what John was feeling for me now was only the pride of possession. I was to him something that belonged—and as such he thought of me as his.

"Wife Declares Herself." "Don't touch me. I said don't think that you can thrust me into forgiveness you do not deserve. You are slowly making me hate you and doing your best to send me directly to the man you affect to despise."

"Where is that letter you are talking about?" he asked as he suddenly remembered that I had mentioned a letter that Karl Shepard told me to give him.

"I went over and took it out of my jewel case."

"Keep it among your treasures," he sneered, do you?"

"Yes," I answered suddenly flaring into quick decision. "This letter is one of my greatest treasures for it tells me of a fact which I had almost despaired—that there is in this world a man who can be unselfishly sympathetic and at the same time interested in a woman that he can not return it he tells her so frankly and bids her good bye."

"Read that letter," John Gordon said, thrusting it into my hand—and then tell me that you are not roughly ashamed of yourself."

Tomorrow—John Destroys Karl's Letter.

SHORT HEALTH TALKS To Men and Women Over 40.

Up until the age of 40 the average man or woman has maintained fair health. Nature has performed its work well with little or no assistance. After the fortieth milestone is passed the human machine does not run so smoothly. This is indicated by occasional headaches, bilious attacks, constipation, sour, gassy stomach, pain in the right side and back of the right shoulder (which is liver trouble), backache and puffiness under the eyes tell that the kidneys are breaking down. People over 40 will do well to heed any of the above symptoms. Bismarck can only be cut by diamonds likewise nature can only be assisted by nature. To truly relieve, correct and regulate the human system no preparation in the world today is as effective and powerful as Bulgarian Tea. These rare medicinal herbs when brewed, give to you the rich juices that Mother Nature intended for her own children. For a few cents you can obtain Bulgarian Tea from your druggist.

U. S. Will Intervene In German Revolt If A Hohenzollern Rules, Is Belief

WASHINGTON — Restoration of the former kaiser or any other Hohenzollern as ruler of Germany would force the United States to take a hand in the situation brought about by the overthrow of the Ebert government by monarchists, officials here believed Saturday night.

President Wilson has said he will not deal with the Hohenzollerns and the United States still at war with Germany, with American troops on the Rhine, it was pointed out. As the state of war still exists, the president, as commander-in-chief of the army, has authority to take military steps against Germany if the terms of the armistice are violated.

Washington officials were deeply interested in dispatches telling of the revolutionary developments, and professed to see in the reports from Paris that the new government would carry out the provisions of the treaty of Versailles, an indication that there would be no immediate trouble.

The Nauen wireless Saturday broadcast a proclamation announcing Ebert's overthrow and promising that the new government would carry out the treaty's terms. Nauen is the official wireless of Germany. The proclamation was picked up at American stations and transmitted to officials here. It was the first word of the revolt aside from newspapers' dispatches, and was not received until 3 p. m. United Press dispatches had been in the hands of government officials since early morning, the first being sent to the White House at 8 a. m.

The proclamation was the first radio sent out by Nauen when it reopened, after having been closed 48 hours. It is said that a new government had to be formed to save the nation and that the revolution was purely a domestic affair of no interest to foreign countries.

The declaration that Germany will carry out the terms of the treaty were regarded with skepticism in some quarters, especially in congress.

It was viewed by some senators as a play for time intended to hold off allied action until the new regime has a chance to reach its full strength and prepare for eventualities. It was not believed likely that the government would go thru with the program of bringing up the war leaders accused of atrocities as demanded by the allies.

The state department was awaiting a report from Loring Dreezel, the American commissioner in Berlin. A communication from it, it was predicted, would go far toward clearing away suspicions of the new regime or confirming these suspicions. The government was not prone to accept the German statements at their face value.

Fear that the revolution will precipitate an alliance between Germany and the soviet government of Russia was expressed by government observers Saturday. For long it has been the belief of officials that a change of government in Germany would be in only one of two directions — either bringing in control the monarchists or the Spartacists which now are German Bolsheviks. The present revolution has brought in the monarchists. A change either way would bring about an alliance with the Russians, it was believed. The Spartacists would want a compact with the Russian soviet, because the similarity of the doctrines of the two factions, while the monarchists would desire an alliance with the soviet, in order to increase their power against the allies and make easier exploitation of Russia to bring about their economic rejuvenation.

Officials predicted the German overturn would prompt the allies, particularly Great Britain and France to strengthen greatly their military in preparation for any violation of the armistice failure to comply with the peace treaty or hostile steps by the German monarchists now in power.

According to latest reports there is approximately 514,000 French and 106,000 British troops along the Rhine ready to move to and take control of Germany. In the event of such action, the 15,000 American troops at Coblenz and vicinity under command of Major General Henry T. Allen undoubtedly might act with the allies, under the terms of the armistice between Germany and the United States.

The German army which is distributed mainly in and around Berlin, and along the eastern frontiers, is estimated by officials here at slightly less than 300,000. In accordance with the peace treaty, the reichswehr must be reduced to 200,000 men by April 10, and 100,000 by July 10.

The German government, however, has been encouraging the establishment of large forces of home guards, militia men and militarized constabulary. These forces, at latest reports totaled 500,000 troops.

Hair Often Ruined By Careless Washing

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoons will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut shampoo at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

THEATERS

BY ESTHER WAGNER

"FIGHTING CRESSY," coming to the Lyric theatre soon, is a pictorialization of Bert Harle's famous story, "Cressy." Blanche Sweet is starred in the title role of a spirited daughter of a fighting Kentuckian who has settled in the west. The half-formed, romantic dreams of the girl were too ethereal for the stolid mother, Ma McKinstry, who could easily understand the bitter warfare of her own fighting husband, Hiram McKinstry, then engaged in a feud with the Harrison clan over a boundary line. Cressy was the prettiest girl in the community, and attracted the attention of John Ford, a school teacher, but she has fallen in love with Joe Masters, a cousin of the despised Harrisons. This perplexed young man, however, finds his love-making greatly handicapped by Cressy's hatred for the family and her extreme family pride. A McKinstry speaks to a Harrison when they're "fightin'." Never!

A time comes when the feud reaches the danger point and Joe is shot by one of the McKinstry men. Cressy hides him in the barn and successfully holds it until her father arrives. Then Cressy brings the news to the McKinstry and the Harrisons that she has bought the legal title to the land and that she and Joe are going to live there. Cressy is the central cast in the role of Cressy and the entire supporting cast is above the average, including Russell Simpson, Frank Lanning, Walter Perry, Andrim Short, Esther Moore and little Georgia Stone.

"SOMEBODY'S SWEETHEART"

(COMING)

"Somebody's Sweetheart" is the latest of Arthur Hammerstein's musical comedies and is strictly different from what has been long known as musical comedy in America. You management of the Faurot Theatre expects that it will appeal to the portion of critical theatre-goers of Lima who demand entertainment of a notch or two above the standard set for the variety of musical pieces. The fun-making which characterizes action of "Somebody's Sweetheart" is not of the light rapid, and luscious kind that springs from hit-or-miss dialogue, but is of an order of high comedy that springs from situation, built on substantial foundation.

"Somebody's Sweetheart" contains humor, music and romance. It comes to the Faurot on Thursday night. Alonzo Price is the author of the book and lyrics and Antonio Baturo is responsible for the tuneful score. In the cast of uniform quality are Violet Benney, Berta Dunn, Elaine Landeau, Sylvia Tell, Adeline Sterling, Charles O'Connor, Barton Lenthin, George Dautson, John Dewey, William Howell and Will Adams.

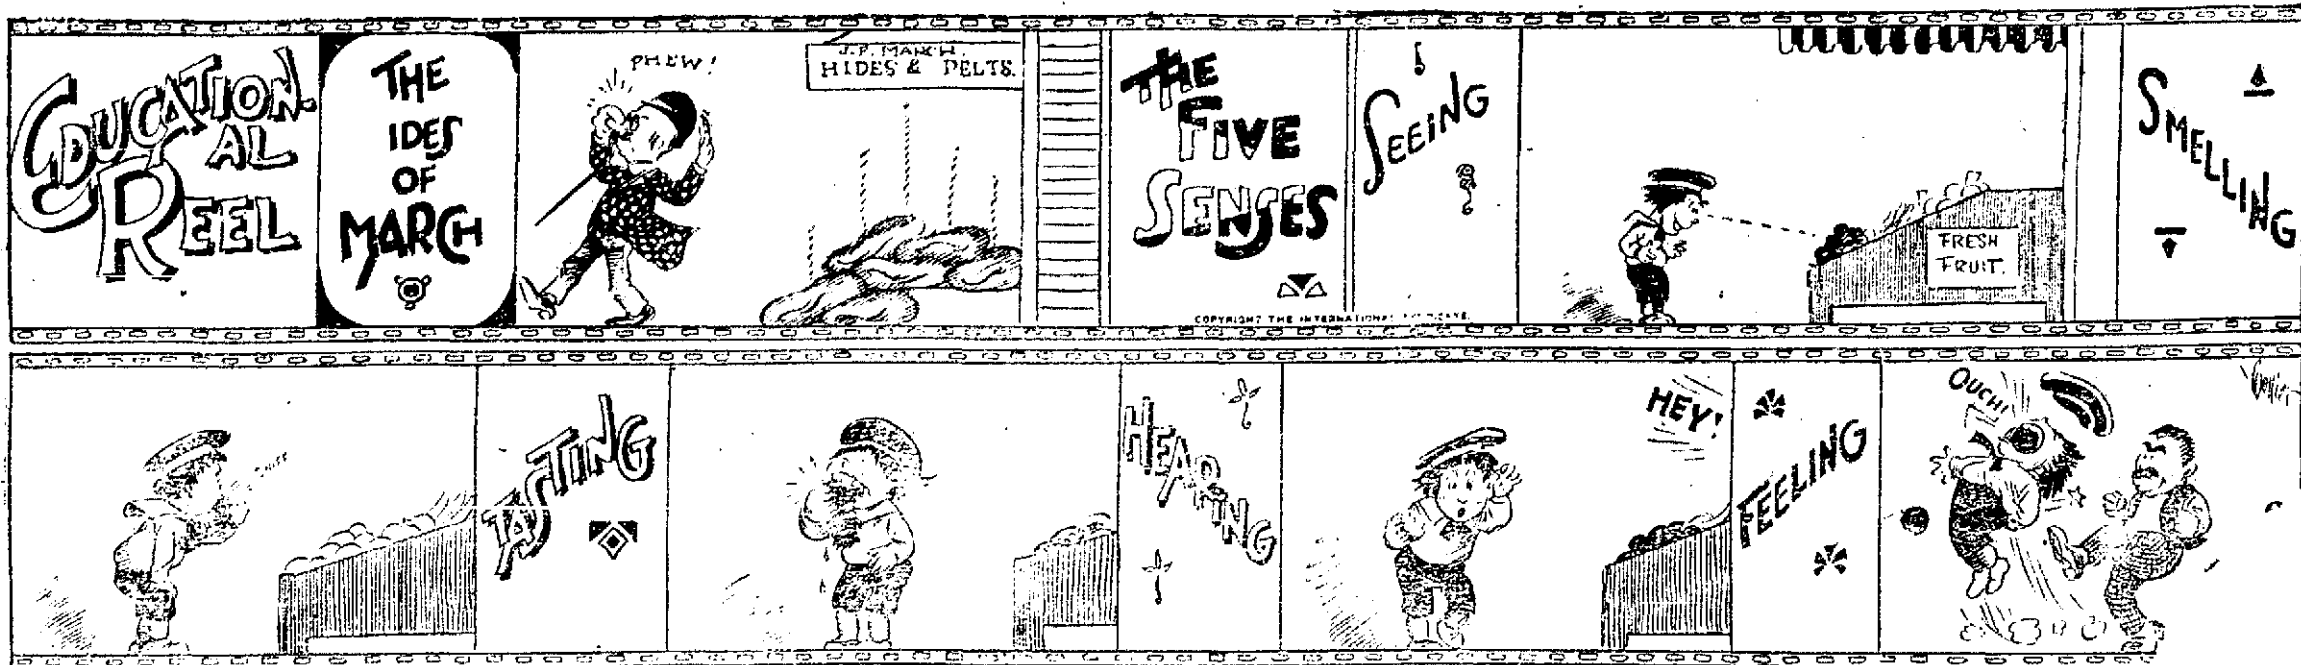

VAUDEVILLE

The bill of the vaudeville for the first half of this week is decidedly good, from start to finish. The first act is a play, but high class vaudeville, Monroe and Grant, in "Craving Troubles" of Their Own, present an act that has been witnessed many times, but in a very novel manner. Auburn and Lovette, two comical, light-hearted comedians, are good. Their voices are above the average. A lively little skit entitled "A Hundred Years Ago" is the offering of Mack and Hastings. Humor, original songs and romances make up their act, which won a lot of applause.

Charles Sweet, in "Just for Fun," presents the best act of the evening. Combination of songs, monologue and imitations. Lucky and Yost in "The Second Meeting" are different. Last, but not least, Milton, Mareena and Delton come forward, with athletic stunts, displaying a wonderful strength and control of muscle.

LYRIC—Today is the last showing of the successful play, "Saves of Pride," which stars Alice Joyce. The day deals with an over-bearing, proud husband, who demands of his wife complete submission to his every whim. The wife has been subjected to a long and arduous journey, and is now in a position to take her life when her wife returns to him.

The Allison Harmon team and the all-star Society Orchestra will present a new program of musical comedies.

ROWLANDS-FURNITURE

IT CAN'T BE DONE!

If you should awake in the night to find your house on fire, you wouldn't try to put it out with a pint of water.

Certainly not—you'd USE THE TELEPHONE to call a company of skilled fire-fighters to extinguish the blaze.

If you were running a telephone company—or any other business—and you found that receipts, or revenues, were not sufficient to meet overhead and operating expenses you wouldn't feel like spending even more money this year than last.

Certainly not—you would tell the public frankly, honestly and sincerely just how much you went in the hole last year, and you'd ask that public for an increase to prevent another deficit.

Operating a telephone exchange with expenses greater than revenues is like trying to put out a fire with a pint of water.

We can make our revenue equal our operating expenses and also provide a fair rate of interest on the money invested if each business telephone brings in a nickel a day more than at present—if each residence telephone brings in two or three cents more daily—

And We'll Furnish the Same High-Standard of Service

SOUTH-CENTRAL IN FINAL CONTEST

The toughest battle of the year is on deck for Friday night at Central gymnasium when the two local high school quintets will clash in the final game of the Trolley League. To say that it will be a tough game is putting it mildly.

Vanquished by South in football, humbled in their first titular basketball meet with the rival school, Central is now fighting desperately to make the most of her last opportunity to regain a part of the former glory of the school.

At the eleventh hour Central has received a turn of fortune, which in the opinion of their fans is a sure clinch of a victory over South.

Central easily over-whelmed Tiffin last week, which team had walked South two weeks ago.

Judging from the above Central has the dope over South. But South is not worried by this. They upset the dope in football. In the first court clash and they are confident they can repeat it.

LOCAL FIGHTERS OFF FOR BOUTS

Don Baxter, local boxer, in company with Ed Schlatter, fight manager, left Tuesday morning for Zanesville, where the local boy will appear in the main go of the athletic club at that place on Wednesday night.

Baxter, Monday night was troubled with a bruised right hand, the result of a mishap in training. As a result of the injury Schlatter before leaving for Zanesville said that he was not very optimistic over Baxter's chances of staying the limit as the mitt might weaken early in the scramble.

Another of Schlatter's stable, Johnnie Dainer, will leave for Zanesville Tuesday night.

PACKARD WANTS CHANCE
Pitcher Gene Packard, who quit the Phils last year after a disagreement with Jack Combs, is anxious to return and may be with the club again this season. He pitched in an industrial league after leaving the Phils.

TED LEWIS AND JOHNNY BASHAM WILL MEET TO DECIDE WELTERWEIGHT HONOR

Johnny Basham in soldier's uniform and Lewis ready for the ring.

Ted Lewis, former world's champion welterweight who lost the title to Jack Britton some moons ago, is going good in England. His next bout is with Johnny Basham, English welterweight, in London March 16. Basham is popular in England. He met defeat recently at the hands of Johnny Griffith, one of the other, ring stars who went to the British Isles early in the year for battles.

WALT. STEWART DEFEATS FOX

WHEELING, W. Va. — Walter Stewart, Wheeling featherweight, bested Joey Fox, the English featherweight, in their ten-round bout here Monday night. Stewart led the fighting all the way and took seven being even.

The winner of this fight will meet Johnny Kilbane, the world champion, sometime in the near future, it was said.

PAID BIKE RIDERS $40,000 FOR GRIND

NEW YORK. — The second six-day bicycle race of the season drew a "gate" of $115,000, of which $40,000 went to the riders. Goulet and Magin, the winners, drew $7,500; Kahner and Hill took $3,000 as second money and Dupuy and Hanley $2,000 for finishing third, according to the promoters.

TRAINING GOSSIP

SAN ANTONIO—Besides pitching three innings of shut-out ball against the Giant regulars and allowing only one hit, Ben Kelly, San Francisco pitcher, smashed out a double that helped the youngsters win 6 to 2. He is a brother of George Kelly, who has succeeded Hal Chase as regular first baseman.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — The White Sox began real practice Monday. A host of recruits and a few of the old stars made a bluff Monday. Bunting practice was favored as there were not enough regular infielders for infield drill. Dick Kerr took his turn on the mound and showed up to better advantage than any of the regular pitchers. Manager Gleason says he expects his infielders to report within the next few days.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. — With the weather permitting, the Red Sox were scheduled Tuesday to start their first game of the Pittsburgh series. Manager Ed Barrow read the riot act to the squad of young pitchers here, during which he declared: "It was about time some of them show what rights they had to travel in fast company."

NEW ORLEANS — Tris Speaker will start testing his pitching crew Wednesday when he initiates the first of a series of inter-team games. Jim Dunn, owner of the club, will be on hand to watch the play. Speaker has 16 pitchers working out.

COLUMBUS, Ga. — Dick Rudolph got his first real workout of the season Monday when he pitched the Braves regulars to a 5 to 4 win over the pretenders. For three innings he was in the box the youngsters got to him for only three hits.

REDS NOSE OUT YANKS 2 TO 1

MIAMI—Carl May's deceptive slants kept the world's champions guessing in their first real test of the 1930 season here Monday and the Pat Moran's men were on the long end of a 2 to 1 count the Redlegs could touch up Mays but for one single, in the five innings he pitched. Thormahlen who finished the game for the Yanks held the Reds to two hits but lost thru his wildness. Jimmy Ring and Adolpho Luque did the pitching for the Moran's clan and each performed in creditable style.

Ping Bodie, renowned Italian slugger, was the hitting wonder of the game, getting four hits, including a triple in as many times at bat. Bodie's triple was a murderous wallop to left in the fifth which Duncan fielded in fine shape and the Yank outfielder was tossed out at the plate in attempting to stretch the hit to a homer.

The Reds scores in the sixth when Thormahlen entered the box. Neale was safe on Peckinpaugh's error. Greasy took second on Bairden's out went to third on a wild pitch and took home when Ruel made a poor return of the ball to the plate.

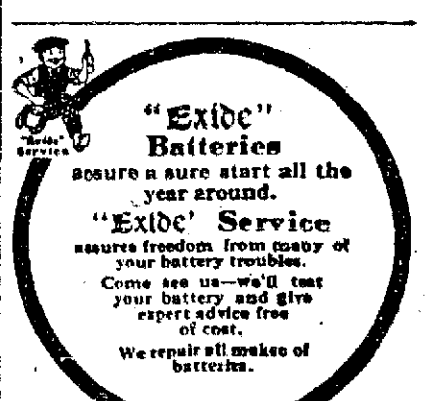

The Yanks tied it in the seventh when Pipp singled. Rath muffed Ruth's grounder. Ward was out. Bodie then filled the sacks on a scratch hit and Ruel's score. Pipp with another scratch single. Thormahlen's wildness in the eighth inning lost for N. Y. He walked Neale and Bairden and Luque filled the sack with a single. The left hander then forced in the winning run by walking Rath.

NEW YORK—Practically all leading issues were higher at the opening of the stock market here Tuesday. Texas Company, ex-div., was off 2, however, at 209 1/2. Crucible shortly after the opening, broke nine points to 23 1/2, two points under Monday's closing price. Oils continued to feature through the first half hour, and Texas Company sold close to 220. Royal Dutch and Shell Transport have not responded to the general rise in oil stocks, due, it was said, largely to the German situation.

Shipping and copper became leaders in the second hour and those buying these issues sold steels and some of the oils. Atlantic Gulf advanced 8 and United Fruit nearly 5. The advance in copper group ran from two to three points.

The market became decidedly a two-sided affair, going into the third hour and traders sold most of the high-priced issues that had recent big advances. Crucible sold at 237, off 18 1/2 from Monday's high; Chandler reacted 6 from the week's high and General Motors 10. Pan-American sold off two. Mexican Petroleum three and Texas Company six from the morning high.

The market closed irregular.

GRAIN REACHES A NEW HIGH

Demand for Cash Corn Reflected in Chicago Market

CHICAGO—Corn futures broke into new highs for the present movement Tuesday when demand for cash corn was reflected in the future market. Lack of offerings drove prices up although there was some profit-taking on the bulge shortly after the opening. Congress consent to sell 5,000,000 barrels of flour abroad was a bullish factor but little attention was paid to the German situation. The strong corn market advanced oats. This pit was generally believed over-sold and offers went up rapidly. Provisions fell somewhat with weakness in the hog market but conditions in the grain pits sent them up again.

Short Shavings

Brown who weighed 200, had at last succeeded in getting a house. Unfortunately, the house was not built to meet such an emergency as Brown, for the whole place shook with his tread as he walked about.

When he climbed into bed that place of furniture gave a groan of despair and collapsed on to the floor.

His son, in an adjoining room, rushed to the door of his father's bedroom.

"What's happened, dad," he said, "can I help you?"

"It's all right," came the cheerful reply, "only if you don't find me here in the morning, look in the cellar."

"Pa," said a young lady to her farmer dad, "I wish you wouldn't say 'I seen.' I don't know how many times, pa, I've corrected you on that."

"Now Mamie, you look-a here," said the old man, shoveling a generous piece of peach pie into his mouth with his knife, "you make yer livin' by good grammar and education, but yer ma and me, we're obliged to take in summer boarders, and by jiminy, they demand the dialect if they pay the rates."

"Yep," said the honest ex-buck, "I spent 14 months in the lines without an relief."

"But I didn't know you were at the front at all," said his uncle.

"I wasn't," replied the buck, "but I spent eight months in the mess lines, five months in the inspection line, and one month in the pay line."

A teacher was trying to teach her class to observe and march stiffly up and down the room to convey the idea of a tin soldier. Nobody seemed to get the idea until little Willie, aged five, shrieked out, "A suffragette!"

The other night at a local picture show an egotistical young man was giving a very shy, diffident person some advice, which interested the people around them. He told elaborately of his own success and then ended: "What you have to do now is to talk a little bit more about yourself and the things you do. If a fellow don't advertise himself who will, I want to know?"

Just then a subtitle was flashed on the screen and everyone around the two young men laughed heartily. It read: "A whale never gets into trouble till he begins to blow."
